During our three year matriculation at Medford High School, we have shared in many experiences, directly or indirectly. We have been told that some of these experiences will prove vital to us as time moves on; as to the true magnitude of the meaningfulness, only time can provide the answer. Some will undoubtedly last only shortly beyond our last days at school; some will linger much longer, but in a very nebulous stage; some few will remain indefinitely clear and direct in perspective, and will be able to be recalled vividly in an instant.

But what about those events outside of our self-contained world, events which have helped shape countless lives and perhaps in some cases even the destiny of man? How soon are they forgotten, how vaguely are they recalled? When one reflects on his high school days, how readily he may recall the student in the next seat in Algebra II, or who caught the winning pass in the Thanksgiving game. But how much more difficult perhaps to remember the 1969 lunar landing or the continued riot-torn existence in Northern Ireland.

In an effort to provide a balanced perspective on what occurred during this three-year period, the Editors of the 1972 Blue and White wish to present the following pictorial essay. We hope to capture some of the greater significance and interest outside of our own immediacy during this time. We feel this essay will provide a balanced perspective which will be appreciated even more in years to come.

ON THE HOME FRONT, President Nixon surprised the nation and the world with a wage-price freeze and import curbs designed to check inflation and stabilize the shaky dollar. There was opposition, publicly demonstrated by AFL-CIO President George Meany at the union's convention, but the President pressed ahead with his new economic program. In another confrontation, conflict with the Senate over Supreme Court appointments resumed with the President's choices for vacancies of Lewis F. Powell Jr., below left, respected Virginia conservative, and Arizonan William Rehnquist, right, tough thinker and talker on rights issues.

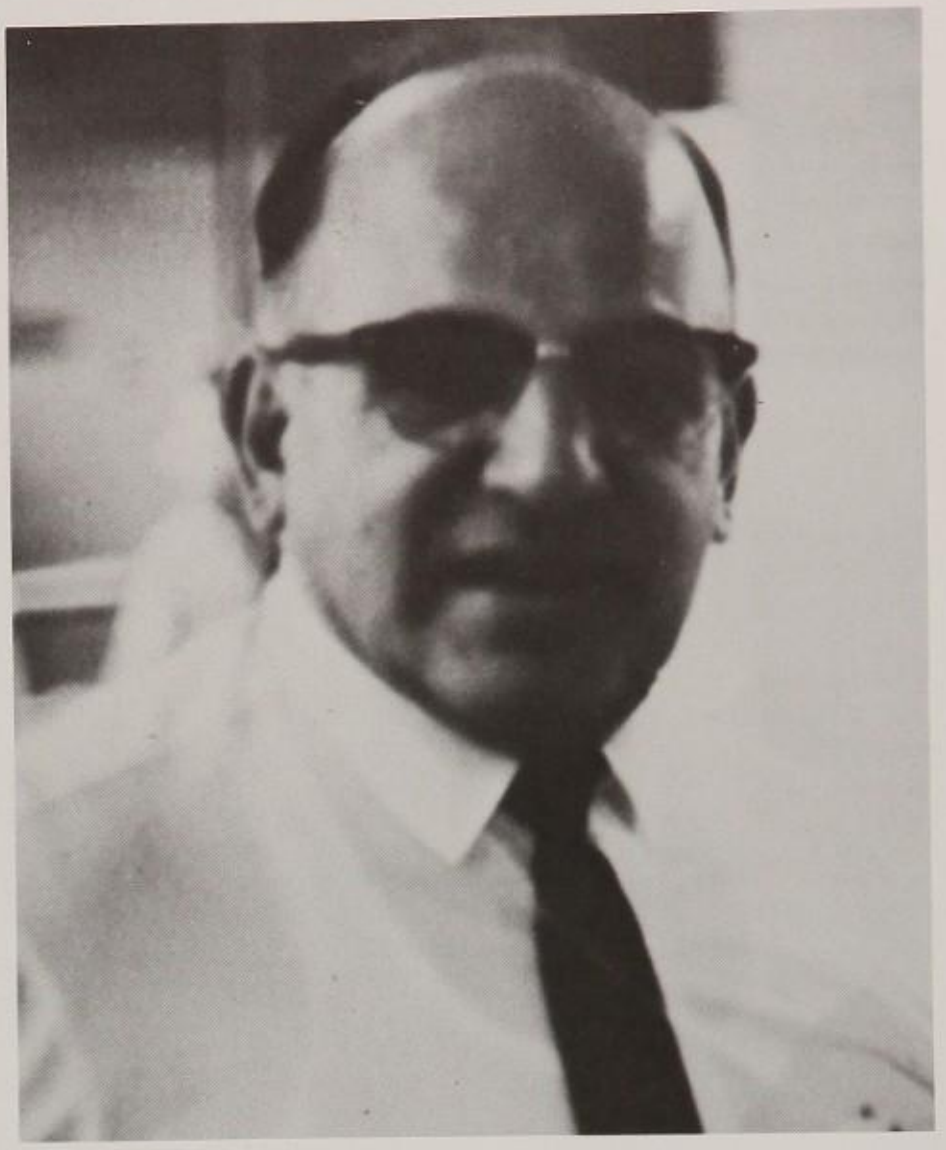
IN MEMORIAM



GODRFEY A. ZIRPOLO

September 7, 1971, the cheery greeting and warm welcome back were extended as always, to returning faculty members as they entered A building for their usual orientation day. This was a most fitting way to begin this day, indeed most school days, for this warm greeting had been the unofficial yet expected way of starting school days at Medford High School for many teachers over many years. September 8, 1971 — that greeting was silenced and was most sorely missed. "Jeff" was no longer with us.

Godfrey A. Zirpolo was born in Boston on February 6, 1907. He was educated at St. Mary's Elementary School and Boston College High School. He held membership in the Disabled American Veterans, having seen service in World War II as a member of the Seabees. Father of three children, he was the brother of two prominent teachers in the Medford School system, Alfred A. Zirpolo, teacher at Medford High School, and the late Emery Zirpolo, former teacher at the Hobbs Junior High School, Jeff served as a custodian in the Medford schools for almost twenty-five years.

During his tenure in the school system, Jeff was appreciated as a most obliging, conscientious, hard-working individual, always willing to perform a service and always making sure that service was satisfactory. Solicitious of the welfare of the school and its students, Jeff was also a confidante to many a young man seeking advice and even seeking perhaps a degree of counseling. His presence was reassuring, his service was appreciated, his memory is treasured.

CLASS ADVISORS

MISS CAROL CHAPMAN

MR. MAYNARD SUFFREDINI, JR.

In this our last year at Medford High, we can look back and realize just how much we owe to our class advisors. Mr. Suffredini and Miss Chapman are truly remarkable people. Though Miss Chapman has been our advisor for only a year, her dedication and concern have been an incentive to many. Mr. Suffredini has been with us through our naive and disordered sophomore year, our transition to the new high school and our enlightening junior year, and now our final and eventful year as graduating seniors of Medford High.

Though the year seemed to fly past us, many senior events took place. Never before have the students been so enthusiastic and involved. Both of the Advisors strove for a better senior year. Their task was accomplished; our year was memorable.

We always have tomorrow to look forward to with anticipation; thanks to Mr. Suffredini and Miss Chapman, we'll also have our high school yesterdays to look backward on with great fondness.

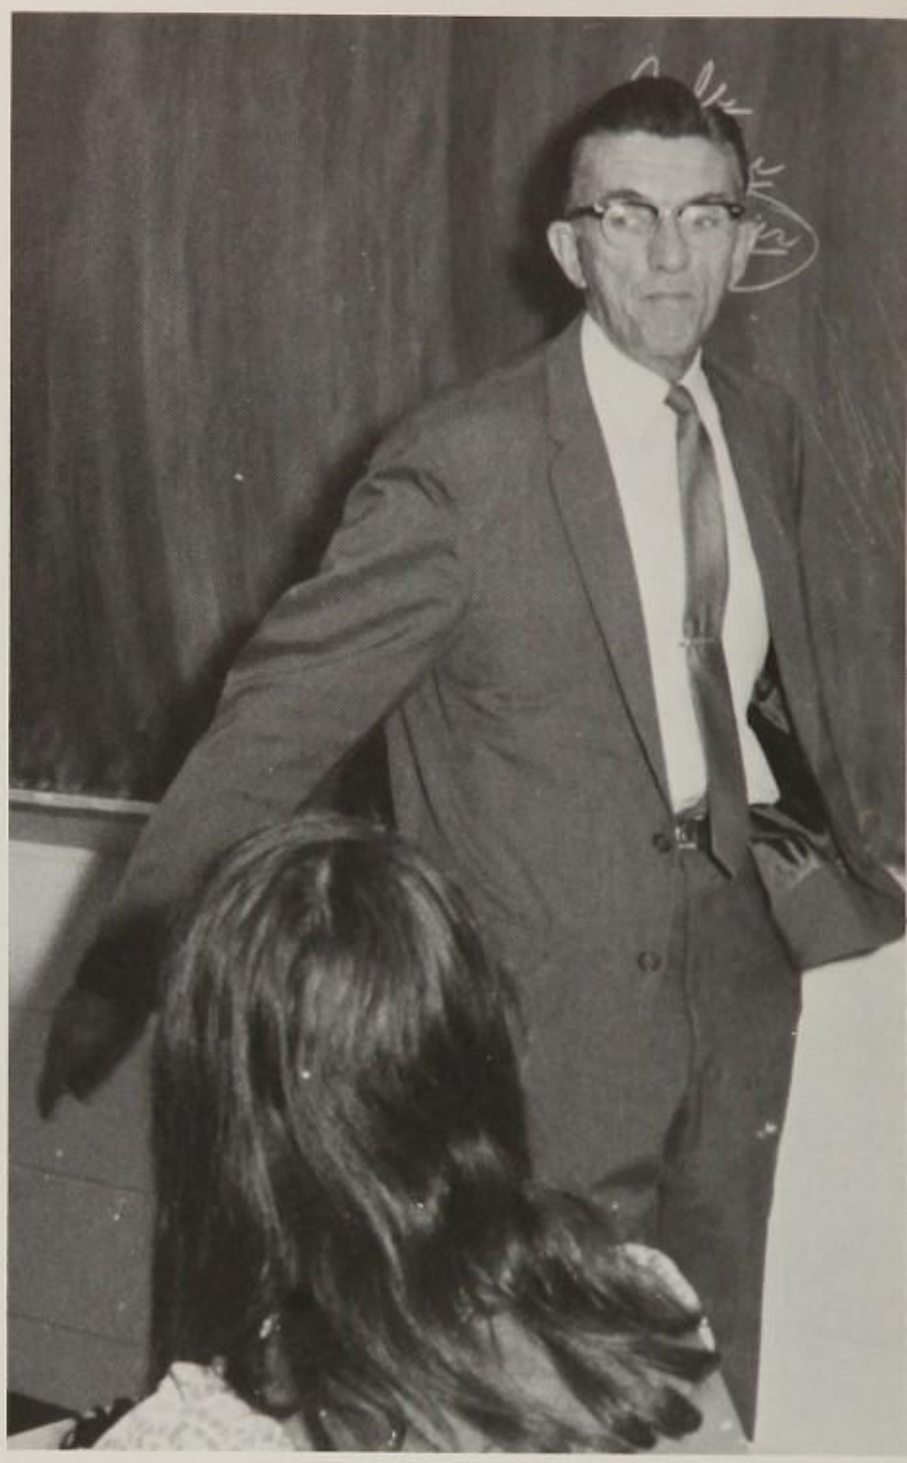
DEDICATION

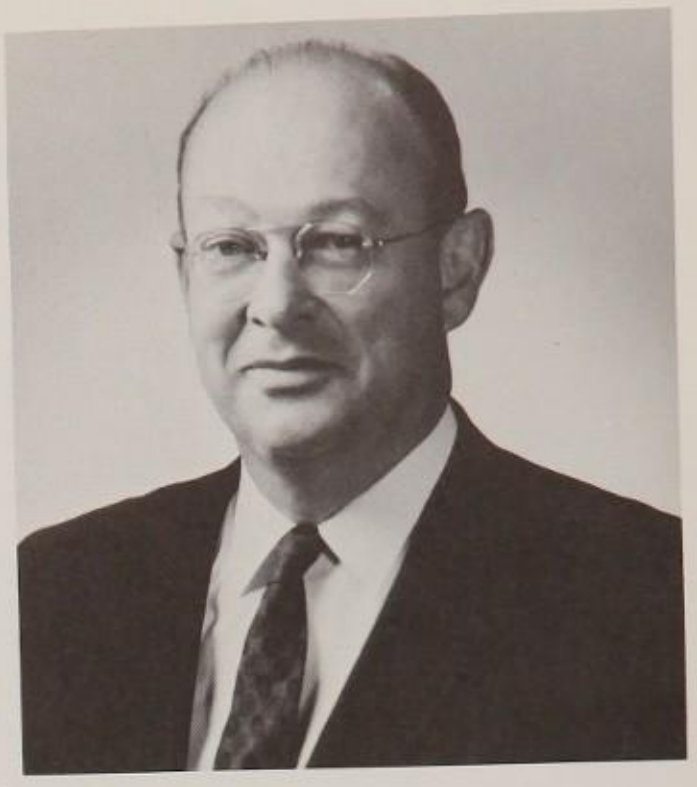
"The secret of success is constancy to purpose."
Disraeli

For almost a quarter of a century at Medford High School, Ralph E. Keene has epitomized the dedication to teaching that symbolizes the best in his profession. Uncompromising in his efforts to give the best of himself and to get the best from his students, Mr. Keene has been described by students as a teacher for those "who really want to learn." Fair and just without ever equivocating on his own personal standards, Mr. Keene is held in high regard by both student and faculty alike.

Born and raised in Medford and a graduate of Medford High School, Mr. Keene was graduated with a bachelor's degree in Business Administration from Boston University in 1939. In 1941 he received his Master in Education degree from Tufts College. After serving as a temporary teacher in the Medford school system for part of the school year 1941-1942, he entered the United States Army in January, 1942. Having served with distinction during World War II, he returned to the teaching field in 1946 by accepting a position at Nasson College in Springvale, Maine. He returned to Medford in September, 1949, accepting a position in the Business Education Department. With the outbreak of hostilities in Korea, he returned to military duty from September, 1950 to 1952. Hereturned again to Medford High School in September, 1952, a position he has served well for the past twenty years. During this time, he has served in the U.S. Army Reserves, having been appointed a Lieutenant Colonel in 1963.

A highly principled man who expects no more from others than he is willing to give of himself, Mr. Ralph E. Keene is our choice of the individual to whom we proudly dedicate our 1972 yearbook.





To my young friends of the Class of 1972:

During your matriculation at Medford High School you have been involved in many changes over which you had no control. You enrolled as high school students in the old Medford High School in the fall of 1969. The following year you went to the new Medford High School as students of the Junior Class. During this initial year of your attendance you were faced with immediate orientation to new physical plant facilities in an eight-building complex, and you had to adapt to this new educational environment immediately in order that your scholastic programs in course direction would not be impaired. That you met all obstacles in both adaptation to new programs and adjustment to new physical facilities successfully is evident by your meeting all academic requirements for a high school diploma.

In a larger sense you have lived during a time when there have been many changes inter-nationally, nationally, and locally. Such changes have not been confined to the global community. Perhaps the most significant invasion by man into the outer atmosphere was identified with astronauts landing on the moon. The inter-planetary excursions which were once confined to astronomers and science researchers were diluted to exposure and experience of all living human creatures inhabiting the earth.

You have never known anything less than war or the rattles of sabres involving most nations peopling, of the crust of our home satellite. Your exposure has been much more direct in our Nation's involvement in bitter struggle and political controversy in the Far East. However, our Nation's involvement everywhere is tantamount to international responsibility as opposed to only national interests. Politics on a national level is now geo-political. The Middle East, the continent of Africa, the continent of South America, and the immediate international boundaries in the northern hemisphere of both Mexico and Canada have taken on new connotations in our social order. The Soviet Union and the European nations have been a part of your early school days in change both historically and geographically. Australia, alone, stands out perhaps as the only continent least touched by the changes of war and political power struggle. The Arctic and the Antarctic are interests of all nations in the tundras at the extremeties of the poles and have been shared internationally in more scientific research and development than any other locations on the earth's surface.

You have known of four presidents in the United States since you were born. From your days of early childhood through to the present you have been made more aware of social needs in your Country than any generation preceding you. Political change and social change have been constant.

The communications media has kept you better informed of all social needs in all activities, right or wrong, than any generation preceding yours.

And, you, too, have changed.

You will continue to change as you mature and become better educated, and you will face many changes socially, politically and geo-politically in the years ahead. You will be responsible in large measure for the success of such change as you take your respective roles in society and as responsible citizens of the United States of America. I have no doubt that you will meet the challenges of such successfully, and I am certain you will one day prepare to leave this world in better shape and fashion than what you found it.

I wish to each of you success and happiness in your personal and vocational goals, and I conclude this message simply with good luck and God bless each and all of you!

William A. McCormack, Headmaster

A singular accomplishment is to be one of the fourteen girls who represent Medford High School as its cheerleaders. In the spring prior to their senior year they must practice for tryouts three times a week. Their presence is required at all Mustang varsity contests. Weekly practices are mandatory. They have the responsibility of teaching the cheers and routines to the junior aspirants who will succeed them next year. Enjoyable, exciting, truly demanding — the senior year for a M. H. S. cheerleader.

Hungry! If that word could ever properly describe the anticipation of a football team's awaiting the start of a season, then that was the feeling of this year's Mustangs, whose previous season's efforts showed just one victory. Epitomizing dedication and desire, they attacked their opening game opponent Boston Latin and came away with a solid win. This victory showed that the Mustangs had something special, both in the form of quarterback Kevin Cuniff, who scored three touchdowns, and in its rock-ribbed defense, led by Ed Finn, Jack Santoro, Larry Centrella, Dan Denufrio, Ken Maiocco, and Nunzio Marino. Clear-cut victories over Chelsea and Sommerville followed, priming the Mustangs for thier big test against undefeated North Quincy.

After being down 20 to 0, Medford staged a comeback that has to rank among the most dramatic victories ever achieved by a Mustang eleven. First it was Kevin Cuniff with a pitchout for 73 yards; then it was Carlo Brogna with a runback of an interception. Finally it was Cuniff again, off once more on a 62 yard romp. Victory was not insured, however, until Nunzio Marino's interception which thwarted the last North Quincy drive. Outstanding game contributions were also made by Ed Finn, Ken Maiocco, and Bob Moore.

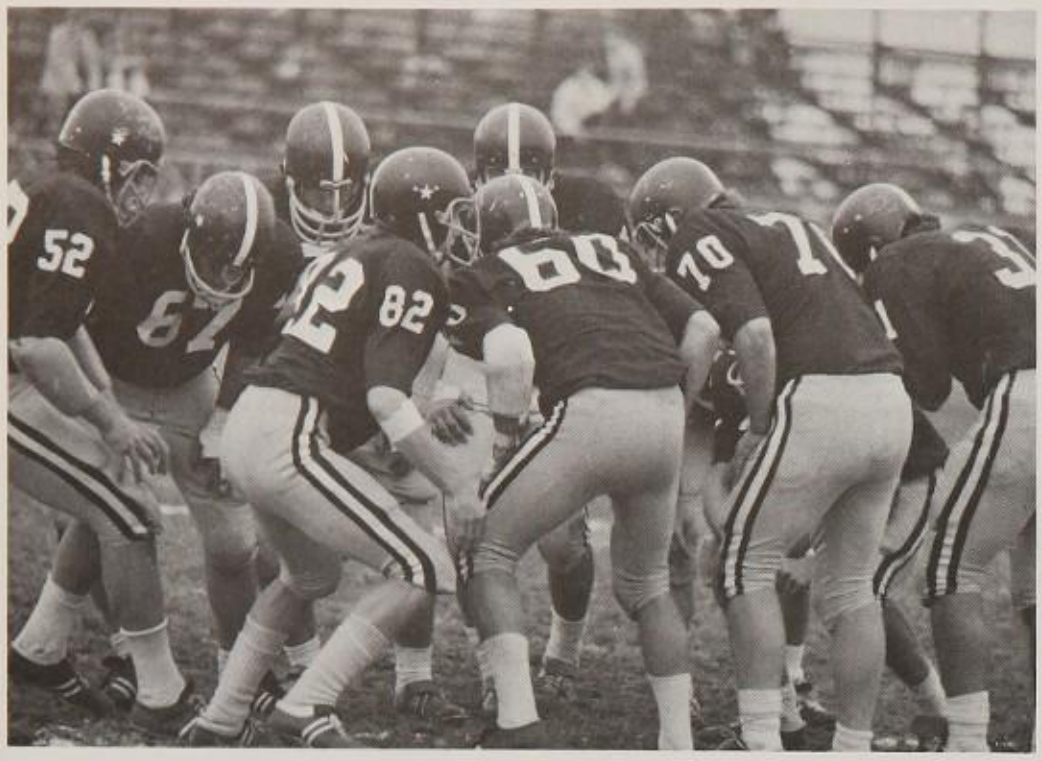
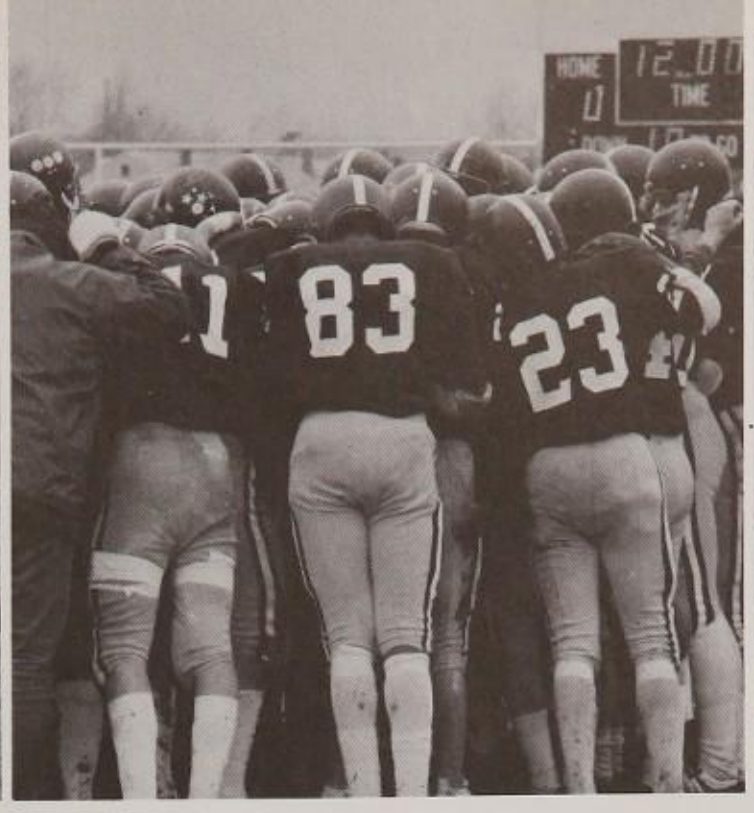
The low point of the season occurred next as a very strong Everett club beat the Mustangs 26 to 12. Despite touchdowns by Jack LaBombard and Tim Sweet, the Mustangs suffered a letdown and hopes for an undefeated season were dashed.

Regrouping, the Mustangs next met an undefeated Newton squad and came away with an impressive 14 to 0 victory. A Cuniff to Moore pass and a last minute run by Dan Cappelucci provided the scoring and the defense did the rest. There followed next victories over Revere and Quincy, thus setting up the possibility of sharing in the Class A championship if a victory over traditional turkey-day rival Malden could be achieved.

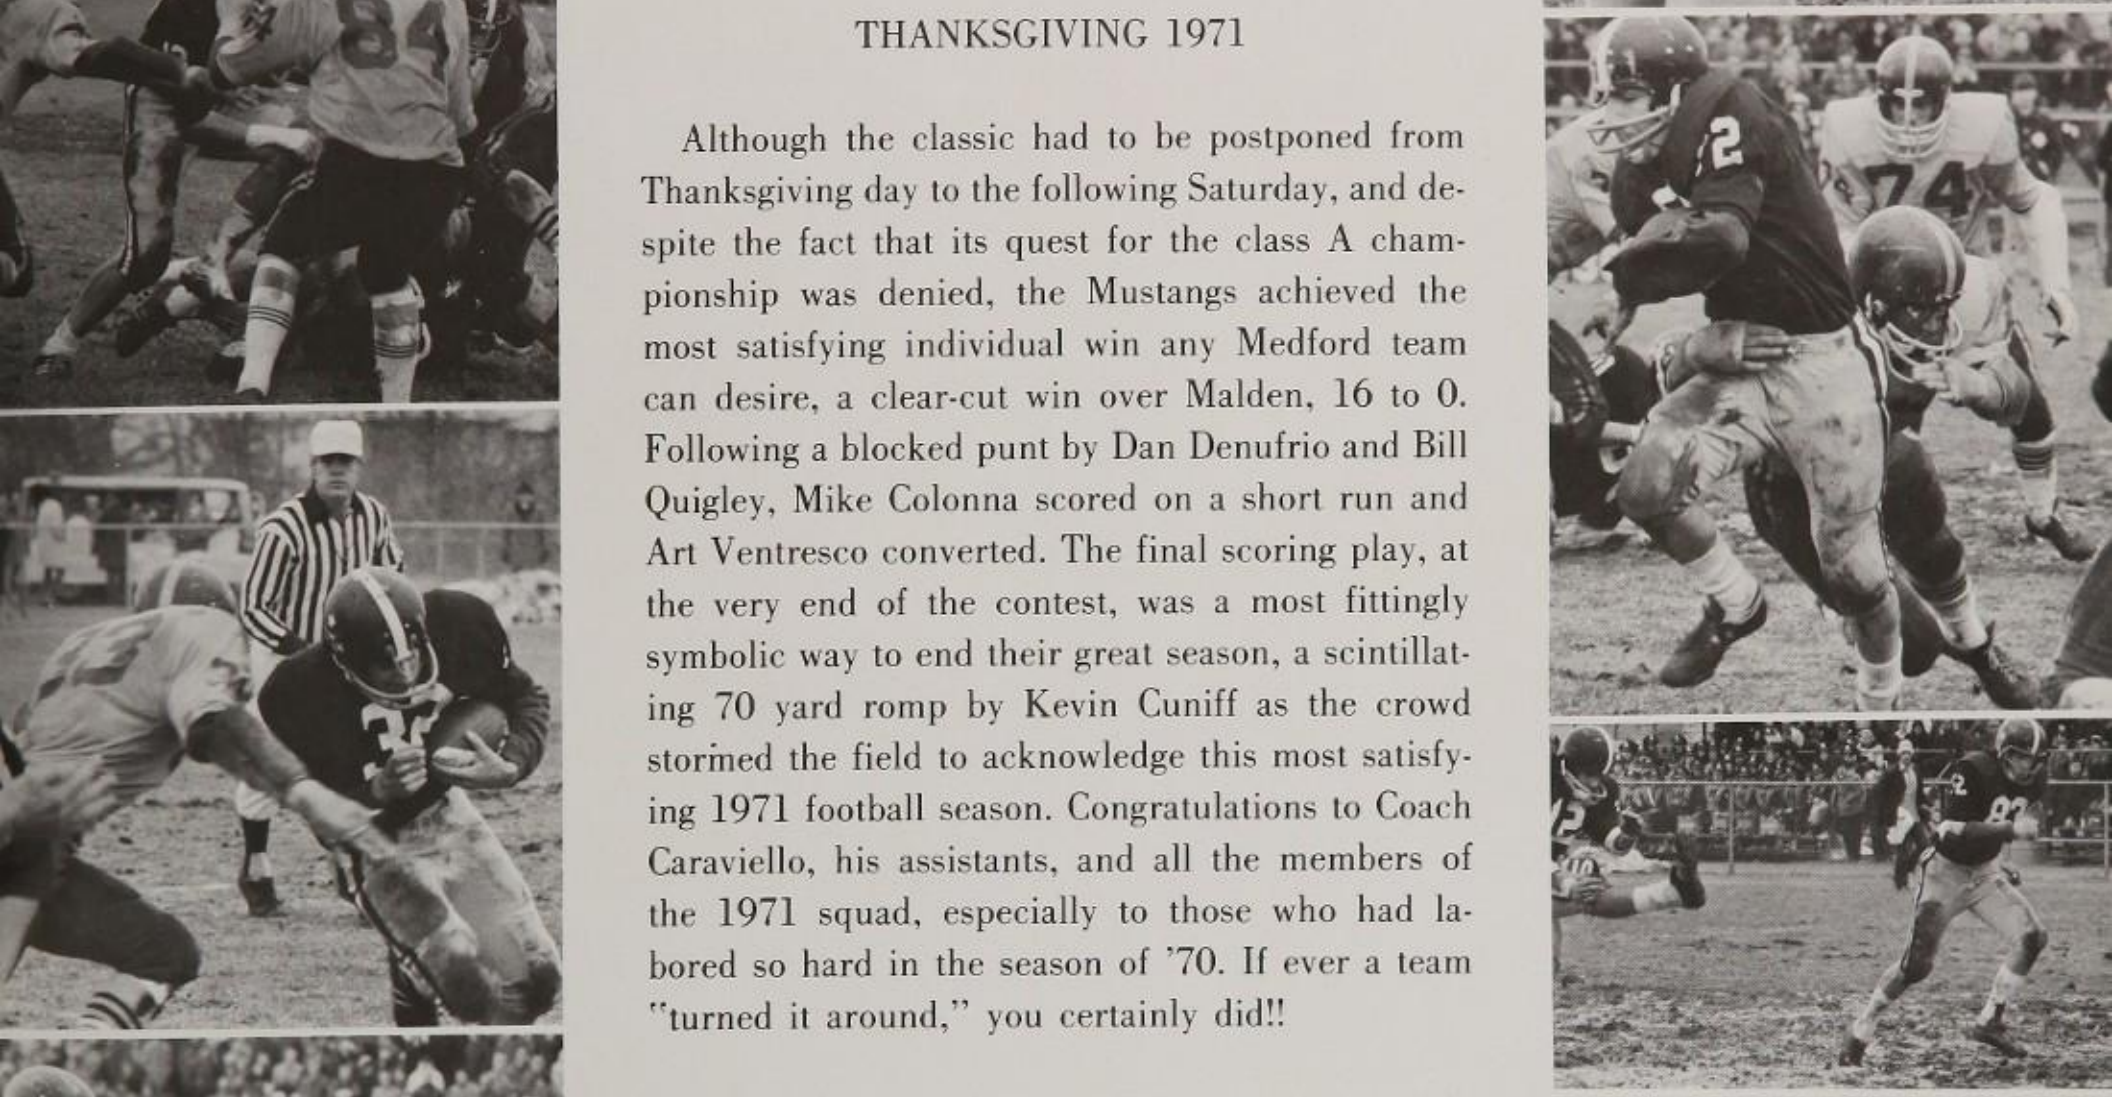
A FAMILIAR SIGHT IN 71





THANKSGIVING 1971

Although the classic had to be postponed from Thanksgiving day to the following Saturday, and despite the fact that its quest for the class A championship was denied, the Mustangs achieved the most satisfying individual win any Medford team can desire, a clear-cut win over Malden, 16 to 0. Following a blocked punt by Dan Denufrio and Bill Quigley, Mike Colonna scored on a short run and Art Ventresco converted. The final scoring play, at the very end of the contest, was a most fittingly symbolic way to end their great season, a scintillating 70 yard romp by Kevin Cuniff as the crowd stormed the field to acknowledge this most satisfying 1971 football season. Congratulations to Coach Caraviello, his assistants, and all the members of the 1971 squad, especially to those who had labored so hard in the season of '70. If ever a team "turned it around," you certainly did!!



The 1971 soccer season was a very satisfying one to the Mustangs, and especially to its senior members, who managed to double the number of wins of the previous disappointing season. Thrilling team effort and outstanding individual heroics were abundant: the opening game shutout over Cambridge Latin, 3-0, the first of seven shutouts recorded by Dan Baker and Ed Hanlon; the hat trick performed by Co-Capt. Chris Traverse in a 3-1 win over Rindge Tech; the first Arlington contest in which the Mustangs toppled an undefeated Arlington Club 1-0, on a tremendous team effort, highlighted by Ed Hanlon's stopping 21 shots on goal; again the great team effort expanded in the luckless 3-1 loss to a very strong Newton club; the overtime win to Rindge Tech, which was the second win of the season over Rindge and which also kept alive tournament hopes; the heartbreak of the 2-1 loss in the second meeting against Arlington, a game in which Charlie Fennelly scored the tying goal with only 45 seconds left in regulation time, only to have Arlington score a hotly contested goal in overtime and hold on to the lead despite tremendous effort and pressure by the Mustangs; and finally a season-ending 2-2 stalemate against a strong Governor Dummer team which had beaten the Mustangs in each meeting over the previous two seasons.

The season was a success, and with just a little smile from lady luck could have found the team finishing even higher than its third place finish. Outstanding contributions have to be acknowledged to the goal-tending of Ed Hanlon and Dan Baker; the determination of fullbacks Allie McCormack, Larry Baima, and Paul Donovan; the consistency of halfbacks Mark Romano, Bob Marrano, and Co-Captain Chris Daly; and the scoring of leaders Steve Ardizzoni, Charlie Fennelly, Jason Abecassis, Co-Captain Chris Traverse, and Mike Bordonaro. The whole team certainly performed in the tradition of the school's outstanding soccer program.

Co-Captained by Chris Daley and Allie McCormack, the Medford harriers compiled a perfect 7 win season and in the process annexed the Suburban league Championship, It was a great season for Coach Joe Orpen and his runners; they never complied over 25 points in any one meet (low score wins) and they shut out three opponents. Key meets included a big win in the opener against Quincy, a tough victory over previously unbeaten Revere, and a season-ending shutout over Malden. Along with their outstanding Co-Captains, seniors Mike Taylor, David McGillivray, and Tony Ciriello made tremendous contributions. Congratulations are extended to junior captains-elect White, Fecas, and Morey; may you be able to emulate this year's championship performance.

Despite its current record of no wins and 5 losses the Medford High Wrestling team is working very hard to hold its own against its opponents in this its first year of varsity competition at Medford High. Led by seniors Captain Ken Maiocco, who is undefeated in 6 meets, Carmen Riciolli, who has won 5 or 6, Paul Donovan, who has 4 of 5, and juniors Mike Colonna, Dennis Picarello, Tim Sweet, and Marty Doto, the M.H.S. wrestlers hope to finish the season on a winning note and then to stay there in the years to come.

This year a varsity swimming team for girls was added to the fall athletic schedule. In this first year of competition, the girls entered the Eastern Massachusetts Girls' Interscholastic Swimming League with a twelve meet schedule plus the State Championship which were held at Medford High School. Besides the two hour afternoon practice session, the predominately Freshman-Sophomore squad was aided by an additional practice from 6:45 AM to 7:45 AM.

The Seniors on the squad included Captain Pat (Busy) Bradley, a freestyle sprinter, Pat Brady, 400 yd. freestyler, Joyce Fortin, Backstroker, and Amy Goulston, diver. With the aid of juniors Vickie Sparks, distance freestyler, and versatile Diane Perry in the individual medley and butterfly, the team compiled a remarkable 5 win — 7 loss record for their first year against very stiff competition. Returning freshman and sophomore lettermen Rosanne Clemente, diver, Lise Hembrough freestyler, Pat Murphy, Breaststroker, Chris Fortin, freestyler, and Marie Doto freestyler who were invaluable in this year's victories over Cambridge, Lynn, Seabrook, Needham, and Fitchburg, make next year's season look even more promising.

Despite the fact that our swimming team is in only its first full year of competition, our swimmers are performing like champions. They own a 7-1 record at press time, with the only loss coming at the hands of league leader, Melrose. The team is well balanced. Led by Captain Kent Aston, along with Jack Harris, Peter Krasco, Glen Enos and Dana Goulston, the seniors have been scoring consistently in their events all year long. Also outstanding for the swimmers are juniors Tony Sgro, Gary Hamm, Scott Rawding, Mike Dunn, sophomores Frank Nackel, Kevin Wells and Freshman Bob Mulcahy and Mark Marrener. Some highlights of this great season are: A revenge trouncing of Matignon, by the score of 76-19; (in the previous year year, Matignon defeated Medford 75-30); a win over archrival Malden 64-30; and a 56-39 win over previously unbeaten Winchester. With this season as a basis of things to come, Mustang swim followers can anticipate very favorable performances in the future seasons.

As the 1972 Blue & White goes to press, the Mustangs are 4-6 in the GBL play and 5-8 overall. So far, it has been a season of disappointment, for the Hoopsters as they have dropped 2 games by a single point, and have played well in others only to lose in the waning moments. However the team has had some fine moments as: two 110-point performances in wins over Chelsea; a 76-52 trouncing of Malden; and a 66-69 overtime upset win over Everett. Led by the scoring and rebounding of seniors, co-captain Dan DeNufria and John Mancuso, and Junior Paul McGrath and the steady backcourt work of co-captain Allie McCormack, and Trevor Lee and Warren Belden, the Mustangs, victims of some tough luck, still possess the never-say-die spirit so prevalent in Medford High basketball under the tutelage of Coach Don Tremblay.

As the yearbook goes to press, the Mustangs are in third place of the G.B.L. with a 9-4-3 record and have an excellent chance to make the post-season playoffs. Captained by Ed Hanlon and Chris Traverse, the Mustangs have been backboned by the scoring of Hanlon, Bob Mahoney, Traverse and Pat Mahoney. The Mustangs' stalwart defense has been led by Bob Marrano, Mike Brennan, Bob Devoe, and the acrobatic goal-tending of Jack Lee. The Mustangs have been a formidable opponent for all G.B.L. teams, having allowed the fewest goals in the G.B.L.

Some highlights of the season to this point: Ed Hanlon's goal with 35 seconds remaining which lifted Medford to a 3-2 win over Malden, after Chris Traverse had tied the game for the Mustangs with 1:40 remaining in the game, and 8-0 revenge victory over Somerville, highlighted by Pat Mahoney's 3-goal hat trick; and George Boudreau's 50th coaching victory, as the Mustangs defeated Quincy on February 4, 2-1. If the Mustangs win or tie 3 of their remaining 4 games, they will qualify for the playoffs.

INDOOR TRACK

In spite of a record that shows a scarcity of wins, the Mustang Indoor Track Team were a hustling and competitive group who did their best to give a representative performance. The Mustangs were led by Captain Chris Daly, high hurdler; Larry Centrella, shot-putter; Dave McGillvray, two-miler; Mike Taylor and Tony Cirella, thousand yarders; solid performances were given by underclassmen Frank James, dashman; and Greg White and John Morey, 600 yarders.

This year the Medford High Girls' Basketball Team entered the Greater Boston League. By compiling a record of 6 wins and 4 losses for the 1972 season. The girls placed second in their first year of league competition.

Junior center, Vickie Sparks, led the scoring with an average of 15 points and 29. The outstanding rebounding ability of Kathie Whelan and the versatility of Anita Santoro were trememdous assets. Paced by the ball-handling and play ability of Capt. Pat (Busy) Bradley with the assistance of Mary Murray, the team completed a very successful season.

The Junior Varsity compiled a very impressive record of 6 wins and 2 losses. With these returning sophomores and juniors prospects for a winning season next year look promising.

The emphasis of the Student Council, this year, has been placed on Students' Rights and their related responsibilities. The Council has been attempting to provide students with their deserved academic freedom, while trying at the same time to impress upon them the importance of consideration for others, when exercising these important rights.

We have tried to promote Student Awareness and involvement in matters directly and indirectly concerning the students.

Ultimately, the aim of the Student Council has been to create a better place for kids to go to school.

BLUE AND WHITE

The 1972 Blue and White Staff has expended every effort to give the class a worthy compilation of the activities of the students at Medford High School. The introduction of a full-color cover, a completely different approach to the faculty section, the biographical index, the personalized capsule on each member of the class, the extensive coverage of athletics, all these and more represent many hours both in and out of school preparing this book for you. We hope you like it. Special thanks go to Martha-Jane Harmon, Mary Whelan, Kathy Whelan, Beverly Marotta, Joanne Martini, Diane Holland, Kathy Sutherby, Pearl Epstein, Kathleen Whooley, and Sheila Lofgren for their sacrifice of time and effort.

MUSTANG NEWS

This year marks the tenth anniversary of the Mustang News. Over the years, it has become one of the most outstanding student newspapers in the country. The self-funding journalists are continually at work, seeking and writing new stories informative to those at Medford High.

This fall saw a record two editions in one month; a November paper, and the traditional Thanksgiving sports edition. The excellence proved by the reporters has won them again the Outstanding High School Newspaper award in New England. To top off their highly successful year, the Mustang News will hold their annual banquet, honoring past alumni and featuring as guest speaker, cartoonist Paul Szep. It's been a truly rewarding ten years.

The Key Club is an all male organization which is nationally recognized and dedicated to developing programs serving both the school and community. The main efforts of the 1971-1972 M.H.S. Key Club were geared to helping Medford's mentally retarded. Aside from assisting the Kiwanis Club of Medford raise $5000.00 for the mentally retarded, the Key Club organized and instituted with the help of many female volunteers, a recreational program for these children. The program was held on Saturday mornings and consisted of 2 hours in the gym and an hour in the pool. Highlights of the program were the Christmas party and the trip to the ice follies.

The Key Club was active on other areas as well. They continued to help handicapped children in the pool in accordance with the Easter Seal Society. Key Club, this year instituted a new program helping the Senior Citizens of Medford. The Key Club set up a Career guidance program for the students as well as acting as stagehands during the talent show "Show of Stars."

It may have been an uneventful winter for some, but for the Medford High Ski Club, the magic word was snow, or more precisely Mt. Snow! On their weekend trip to Vermont in February, the skiers were hit with two days of perfect skiing. The atmosphere and warm fireplace were a pleasant retreat, as students watched the continuous snowfall.

Though the weather hindered most local skiing, a big event for some of the members was their February trip to Innsbruck, Austria. This was the first of its kind for the Ski Club, but only the start of many more.

HISTORY SEMINAR

The purpose of the seminar in United States History is to inspire interested students to embark upon a course of independent study. Students participate and complete research in affairs relating to the United States.

Group discussions take place weekly about internal problems facing our nation today as well as the background of the United States foreign policy.

ENGLISH SEMINAR

The English Seminar offers selected students the opportunity to read beyond assigned classroom literature, to participate in group dynamics, and to develop a mastery of written expression. The purpose of the activities is fourfold: to insure that each student has read the work carefully; to suggest for the student some consideration of the major points in the work; to offer the advisor some indication of the student's understanding; and to guide the student toward anticipating some of the focal considerations so that he might learn to read and write more thoroughly.

PEOPLE AGAINST POLLUTION CLUB

Membership in the People Against Pollution Club (PAP) is open to all Medford High School Students. Those who join must possess drive, dedication, and the willingness to work hard on community ecology-oriented projects. This year the members have participated in and recruited others in the Mystic River Clean-Up. The club sends members to acquire information on pollution-related topics to local civic association meetings. PAP members attend meetings of the Mystic River Watershed Association at Tufts, the Wellington Improvement Association, and the Medford Conservation Commission. PAP has sponsored lectures such as that of Dr. Arenson, Zero Population Growth in Boston, and Mrs. Elaine Adler who started a recycling project in Wellesley. The club was a major influence in the decision of the Medford City Council to make city departments purchase recycled paper, thus providing a market for this material. PAP will participate in the Walk for Culture to take place April 19 in order to receive funds to carry on its worthwhile activities. A major air pollution prevention campaign will take place in the spring also.

In Memoriam

The school community was shocked by the tragic death of senior Anthony J. Cirella on April 28, 1972. As Co-Captain of the M.H.S. track team, Tony was leading a light workout of the team when he collapsed. The grief-stricken members of the class of 72 will always hold on to the memory of Tony Cirella, their quiet, friendly, dedicated classmate whose tragedy sobered the thoughts and mood of many in the spring of 72.

CLASS HISTORY — SOPHOMORE YEAR

As time goes on, there are many memories that are stored away and forgotten. As for our sophomore year, this is one that will remain with us forever.

For many of us, this was a huge leap from our small junior high environments into what seemed to be an enormous unfamiliar surrounding. Here, amid the strangeness and new faces were made many long, lasting friendships.

We were united with Mr. Fusco, a dedicated and devoted submaster, who guided us along from 1 PM to 5 PM each day, supporting us in the tasks that we set out to do and teaching us the importance of following rules and respecting our superiors.

Mr. Maynard Sufferdini became our advisor, always being there if we needed him, and being able to solve most of our problems.

Time passed quickly. Having adjusted to the new way of life, we elected class officers: Vinny Albanese, President Rose Tse, V. Pres.; Emily Jaynes, Treas.; and Lisa Serio, Sec.

The Student Council was heard strongly this year, as a more liberal dress code was agreed upon.

Getting into the spirit of sports, the voices of the Pep Club could be heard from all over, and although losing to Malden on the Thanksgiving Day Finale, we were happy to know that our Mustangs had a winning season.

A saddened note was hit by the news of Coach McKinnon retiring from football. For under his coaching, Medford was looked upon as tough competition in the Class A Division. 1970 was also an outstanding year for our basketball team. After reaching the Tech Tourney Finals, they were defeated in the last seconds by Catholic Memorial.

Our sophomore year was moving rapidly. Now, as June approached, we were told that we would be the last sophomore class to occupy the old high school.

Preparations were being made for moving to the new high school on Winthrop Street. We would be leaving the old high school for our junior and senior years and once more be confronted with strange and unfamiliar surroundings of the new Medford High School. But with the unity that had been born in our sophomore year, we would not let these anticipated problems deter us, we would regain confidence and put our minds to seeking our goals for the future.

Eileen M. DeVincenzi

CLASS HISTORY — JUNIOR YEAR

As the days, weeks, and years go by we still have many fond memories of our junior year that will always live within us.

After leaving the century old high school we entered the new multi-million dollar complex uncertain of what would lie ahead. For both the students and the teachers the first week or two was nothing but mass confusion. Added to the confusion of the new high school, there were a series of bomb scares during which we had to take precautionary measures and leave the building. However with the help of the faculty we survived this ordeal and settled down to work toward furthering our goals and to enjoy the year ahead.

In the weeks to follow, under the direction of our new coach, Armand Caraviello, the football team worked diligently to prepare for the annual Turkey Day Finale against Malden's Golden Tornadoes. Although we were defeated, our spirits never died because Medford's athletic destiny was to reach new heights as the Mustang's hockey team qualified for the Eastern Schoolboy Tournament, losing in the quarterfinals to Melrose.

To guide us in this critical and decisive year we elected as our officers: President — Jamie Edgerly, Vice President — Chris Traverse, Treasurer — Debbie Morrill, and Secretary — Kathy Whooley. Special recognition should be given to the officers for the remarkable job on making arrangements for the most memorable occasion of the year — our junior prom. "Just My Imagination" served as the theme of the prom which took place on April 16, 1971 at the Chateau de Ville in Saugus. For those of us who attended, it was an enjoyable evening and now pleasant memories live within us.

Our junior year was slipping by as quickly as it had come in, but before it ended there were a few details to be attended to. On one Friday night in May, 31 girls awaited the final decision as to who would be the new Medford High School cheerleaders and pom pom girls. Junior marshals and ushers were elected and ready to assist the seniors in their final hour — graduation.

An aura of serenity surrounded us as we closed our books on that warm summer day in June, 1971. Having overcome the obstacles of our junior year we were now ready for the long-awaited summer months.

Margaret T. Hodnett

CLASS HISTORY — SENIOR YEAR

Summer ended and once again we prepared for the opening of school, only this year was our last. We had many things to finish and many more to start. Under the leadership of our class officers Carlo Brogna — President, Donna Drea — Vice President, Connie Pustorino — Treasurer, and Joesphine Arris — Secretary we were as ready as we would ever be to begin our most memorable year at Medford High.

The new high school was now running more smoothly on an open campus program for Juniors and Seniors. We received our student ID cards for which pictures had been taken last year and homeroom was moved until after second period. To go along with open campus Sounding Board was introduced by Mr. Convery and played host to many interesting speakers which were thoroughly enjoyed by the students.

Medford High piled up the hardware this year. The Cross-Country Team, Co-Captained by Chis Daley and Allie McCormack, compiled a perfect 7 win season and in the process annexed the Suburban League Championship. The Chapter One DECA class won a second place trophy for their entry in the original project contest. Their project was concerned with the various products and markets of the world.

The trees turned colors and the air turned crisp. It was Autumn and Autumn brings football games. The Mustangs had a winning season paced by Tri-Captains Jack Santoro, Dan Capelluci, and Ed Finn. The basketball team didn't have its most successful season, but with the rooting of our faithful cheerleaders they never lost spirit. Women's Lib came through with a newly formed Girls' Basketball team that won 6 and lost 4 under the coaching of Miss Julie Doherty.

Jack Frost moved in and it was evident that 1971 was rolling by quickly. In their first year of competition the swim team splashed its way to ten victories. The Pom-Pom girls cheered the Hockey Team right to the Tech Tourney, losing only after a tough battle to Arlington. Medford High's Key Club played Santa Claus for the retarded children of Medford, and all the clubs were progressing at a steady pace, many of them having their own holiday parties.

We all had a lot of celebrating to recuperate from, and when we returned from vacation it was now 1972 — our year had finally arrived. Senior year was moving by more swiftly than we had realized and graduation was becoming more of a reality.

For the first time the Homeroom Representatives took an active part in the workings of the Senior Class, selling address books and calendars. The money not only benefited the class but we hope to have started a new tradition by having the Senior Class adopt a child. Due to the hard work of our Class Advisors, Miss Carol Chopman and Mr. Maynard Suffredini, the Senior Class sponsored a very successful Rock Concert featuring the "Band of Joy."

Politics took its turn and Medford High was honored by a brief appearance from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. Representing M.H.S. Christopher Daley was named governor of Massachusetts for student government day.

Enjoying the wonderful snow, the members of the Ski Club plowed down the slopes of Mt. Snow, Vermont. Back at school, the Yearbook Staff was working hard to meet its deadline and the Drama Club presented the Broadway Comedy hit "Harvey."

This year just as every other year the Vocational part of Medford High had an eventful year. This is the first year that students will graduate after completing Drafting and Cosmetology courses. Two seniors received trophies from the Voc. for their work. Patrick Irving was awarded the Outstanding Senior by the Vocational Teachers Association, and Thomas Nagle received the Catherine A. Carew Memorial Award for the best all around student. To wind up their senior year the Voc held its Senior Banquet at the V. F. W. hall in Medford on May tenth.

Time moved quickly now, and by April most of us knew what our futures would be. Did any of us realize back in our sophomore year just how important college acceptances were?

Spring had finally come and the grand finale was underway. The Prom was held on April fourteenth at the elegant Marriot Motor Hotel in Newton. The theme was "Colour My World" and it was carried out beautifully by the colors of pink and burgundy.

Today, May 26th, we are together as a class and we will be together four days from now at Caruso's Diplomat for our banquet. Then, for the last time at Hormel Stadium on June 1st, we will be together as high school students.

Upon receiving our diplomas we will have completed 12 years of school. At times the load was heavy and we would like to have changed some things, but the wonderful things we learned, the good things that we experienced, and above all, the lasting friendships that we made are all memories locked in our hearts that will remain forever. As time goes on and we move into the world to pursue our chosen careers, may we all "Colour Our Worlds" with Peace, Happiness, and Success. God Bless You and Good Luck!

Mary Lou Gelineau

CLASS PROPHECY — 1972

All: When the moon is in the seventh house,
And Jupiter aligns with Mars,
Then peace will guide our planets,
And love will steer the stars.

And this will lead us to prophesy a class, forgotten by few,
We will cherish inside, the memories of The Class of '72.

Debbie: Carlo Brogna, president, had a very special dream,
To cheer with the Pom-Pom girls at hockey, and teach them all to scream.

Janet: Donna Drea, our red-headed V.P., will always be seen behind the register at Cradock's Apothecary.

Mary: Josephine Arria, so small and sweet,
Has achieved her lifetime ambition — to reach six feet.

Debbie: Connie Pistorino, our treasurer, seems so shy and quiet,
We were quite surprised to find her jailed, for starting campus riot.

Janet: Jackie Lee, the hockey man, he guards his net the best he can,
And Marian is at his side, cheering until she is his bride.

Mary: Greg Cunha, quite the senior loverboy,
Is every little freshman's joy.

Debbie: Allie McCormack's high school kick, is dating a P.S.T. chick,
Celeste Huse won his heart this time, we wonder which ones next in line.

Janet: Charlie Saulnier, to the girls, was considered a handsome native,
In the future we find him working with the Indians at Vista.

Mary: Jackie LaBombard and his red sweatshirt can be found,
Wherever Paula Lanetta is hanging around.

Debbie: Jimmy Coleman, is still sweet, to every girl he's considered a treat,
But they've been fooled, what a pity our Jim has a different girl in every city.

Janet: Vinny Albanese's prom night was really a great time,
Until the morning after, when his date he could not find.

Mary: Laurie Biungo's favorite date,
Is watching the horses leave the gate.

Debbie: Leaning against the library wall, Paul Costa and his gang will never give it a chance to fall.

Janet: Kevin Cunniff, our football man, was married so we understand,
But those victory parties need to be explained, and what about the girls he entertained?

Mary: David McGillivray can still be found, carrying his Marathon trophy around.

All: Pisces in your future it is known, that your high school love, you have outgrown
And your following days appear quite sunny, for in ten years, you will acquire much money.

Debbie: In twenty years, Laurie Gorman can still be found,
Chauffeuring Kent Aston all over town.

Janet: The Carr Park Boys are now together it is said,
They gave up free time with the girls,
And stayed up Dippy's instead.

Mary: In the future we foresee, Danny Baker on T.V.
As we sit there listening to his speech, we know that Public Speaking he will teach.

Debbie: During football season Danny Cappellucci was quite the lover,
But now we find he spends most of his time with his mother.

Janet: Chris Daly was never one to take defeat,
And now we see him sitting in the President's seat.

Mary: Larry Centrella, otherwise known as fats,
Went into business with Jackie Santoro, and are presently selling prom hats.

Debbie: Celia Jango's smiling face we will always find,
Brightening up the players, at Mass Bays cheering line.

Janet: Tim Convery is still trying to make his mustache grow,
But everybody's waiting for the day when it will show.

Mary: In the future you will see, Chris Traverse playing beside Don Awry.

Debbie: Judy Riley can be found, carrying a Budweiser sign around.
For in her mind is the fear that Schlitz will win again this year.

Janet: Jamie Edgerly's body we are told, occupies every centerfold,
And while sports are still his pride, he carrys a box of bandaids by his side.

Mary: Although only her hairdresser knows for sure,
We're wondering if Cookie Keyes' hair is really pure.

All: Leo, you were known in high school, to tend to run around,
And often those you loved, lookedson with a frown,
But in the years to follow, no longer will you clown,
for someone will learn to hold you down.

Debbie: Bossy Bradly so strong and tough, really isn't to blame,
Just because she beats her boyfriend out every athletic game.

Janet: In ninety-two years, we see Mark Baldwin, cane in hand,
Still walking around saying, "How ya doing man?"

Debbie: Anne Myott is now Donald DiMare's wife, she used to lead a wild life,
We haven't seen her for a year, we wonder where she disappeared.

Janet: As a football star he is fine, on the football team he held the line.
It seems to us there is a sign, that Dan DeNufrio resembles Einstein.

Mary: Nadine Halleran's braces will soon be gone,
But her long orange hair and glasses will still live on.

Debbie: Debbie DiGiantommaso and Suzanne Herlihy are quite the crazy pair.
We're wondering if anyone sees them show up for the first period this year.

Janet: Marylou Sassa has fallen head over heels for her junior lover,
We wonder at times if she is his girlfriend or his mother.

Mary: Paul Donovan, our soccer and lacrosse hero,
With all his girls, he's now scoring zero.

Debbie: Marie Novak diets did nothing for her lonely life,
But then her world changed, and now she's Paul's wife.

Janet: Paul Spencer used to be quite the man around town,
Now we wonder how he feels, that Linda's tied him down.

Mary: Leslie Stevens and Vera's homework seems to be behind,
We're trying to guess the number of absence cards, their mothers had to sign.

All: In high school, Aries, you had perfected the art, of learning to break another's heart.
But tomorrow, it is your turn to cry, as the one you love, waves Good-bye.

Debbie: Judy White catches many a boy's wondering eye,
If only they knew she thrived on hair dye.

Janet: If anyone is in need of a scuba diver,
Jackie Harris is always around to fill that desire.

Mary: Here's a story that has never been told,
Ellen Schena has been seen frequently visiting the Sheepfold.

Debbie: John Moraites lives on food with high protein,
And in the future he's portrayed on the cover of every muscle magazine.

Mary: Kent Aston, captain of our swimming team, is now found playing "Flipper" on the T.V. screen.

Debbie: Although Karen Rognero and Denise Gawlinski will be best friends till they are ninety-three,
Karen knows she'll never hold a candle to the mighty E.

Mary: Patrice Grande has been known, to talk your ear away,
You'll always find she has some gossip to pass your way.

Debbie: We see Patti Harmon today, married and five thousand miles away.
We know her Florida love is satisfied, to see her permanently at his side.

Janet: Maureen Moore, her hope chest in hand, is still wandering around looking for the right man.

All: Cancer, your three years of life have been filled with confusion,
Most of your hours in class were spent in illusion,
But in the years to come,
Your mind will someday be won.

Mary: Kenny Mucco is treasurer of the M Club, but he uses the money to socialize at the pub.
When he gets home from that old little place, the rest of the money puts a new car in his place.

Debbie: Elise Kearney, cheerleader in blue, has tears in her eyes till hockey's all through,
Because the games seem to leave no room for Bobby Marrano's role as a groom.

Janet: Marty Cunniff and Joyce Aurilio have a new house they say,
In the middle of Hickey Park, where they met one day.

Mary: Can you remember back to sophomore year,
When Donald Mac had no hair?

Debbie: Five years from now Charlie Fenelly can still be found,
Defending the Old High School grounds.

Janet: Ann McKinnon, next year at Boston State will have her share of fun,
Cuz the boys out number the girls two hundred to one.

Mary: In the home of Paulette Vartabedian we do see,
Megaphones hanging all over her Christmas tree.

Debbie: In front of Brighams a dedication will always appear,
Naming John Griffen hum of the Year.

Janet: Patty Brady's diets start every other day,
But it seems her shape is here to stay.

Mary: Jackie Stearns and Mary Shrewsbury were never to be considered two,
But we know, to the Park, Jackie will be forever true.

All: Aquarius, your comic ways had made you look a fool,
But times will change as you graduate from school,
Your days will grant respect,
And will give more than you expect.

Debbie: Poor Ed Finn, unfortunately, did something not so neat,
He broke his leg again, after tripping over his own big feet.

Janet: We used to find Carol Jenkins living in a van,
Squished, now in a white car, she does the best she can.

Mary: Kathy Reynold, finally gave up and became a nun.
After all that trying, a boy, she never won.

Debbie: Kathy Sutherby, is down at Salem State as fine as she can be,
For it's a known fact that she has learned to like her tea.

Janet: Kathy Whooley has the shortest skirts and in the past she was class flirt.
But her hemlines took a fall, when her heart went out to Paul.

Mary: Denise Gawlinski, has watched many a hockey game,
It's been this way since Hanlon's her last name.

Deborah Morrill

Janet A. Bartsch

Mary Miller

Debbie: Janice McKeowns high spirited ways, have always come in handy,
In taming down the temper of hubby Danny Grande.

Janet: Patty Cellotta dressed up in white, is found nursing Paul Ryan back to health, her favorite job by right.

Mary: There is one among us that we all know, when Tom is happy he puts on a show,
And when things are bad, we may get a chance, to see this comical character dance.

Debbie: Mary and Kathy Whelan are now making the nurse's scene, with baggy white dresses and chubby shoes, they make a squeaky team.

Janet: Cynthia Hankard, we find, busy at work,
Raising kids, for her hubby, Kevin Burke.

Mary: Debbie Vaughn, at a victory party finally found her man, and ten years later, she's still competing with a motorcycle, doing the best she can.

Debbie: Barbara Freedman will be seen on every T.V. station,
Picketing and carrying signs for Women's Liberation.

Janet: Mr. Fusco, has remodeled his office so we hear,
He's wallpapered his room with all the discipline slips collected this year.

Mary: With Mr. Suffredini and Miss Chapman helping us tow the lines,
The last three years can be looked upon as mostly real good times.

All: When the moon is in the seventh house,
And Jupiter aligns with Mars,
Your future will be fulfilled by the patterns of the stars.

We have come today not to hurt or to offend,
But only to hope you will listen and have laughter to lend.
Even though, now, we shall go about our separate ways,
The memories and spirit of our class is here to stay.

And yet, we know, there will be happiness and some tears,
As we say farewell to our last
Three years.

CLASS ORATION

Daniel P. Baker

This, our graduation, is a time that could easily give way to the usual amount of water sentimentality, and lead to the usual amount of trite phrasing and altruistically noble thoughts, gushed forth with tear-filled eyes and utter sincerity. I could sermonize about the war, the environment, the economy, or about our roles as citizens out there in the hard, cruel world. But it has all been said before and would bore us all to death. Let us instead turn our attention from a dead horse to a young, strong colt which is wild and often confused and badly in need of training — The American School System.

Forgive me, graduates, for dragging out the subject of school. Many of us, myself included, are glad to be rid of its many dull tasks, and will miss the social stimulation of high school very much and the classroom aspect somewhat less. But the twelve years of schooling we have received will remain with us and influence us for the rest of our lives, as our children's schooling will in turn influence their lives. It therefore seems at least fitting to speak of the major influence in our lives on the occasion of our formal departure from its institution.

You may have noticed that I have thus far avoided the word education, perhaps because education is seldom the question. What is the question, oftentimes, is what to do about chairs, rooms, desks, or gymnasium mirrors. But we must realize that there is something important beyond all this, beyond grading systems and classroom space and new buildings and the other things which must be relegated to their proper place. What is important is what is being taught, and who is teaching it, because a teacher must stimulate his students to learn, not merely to hand out facts. In short, we need an examination and revision of our educational philosophy and a reordering of educational priorities.

After all, a student 15-18 years old cannot be taught anything he doesn't want to be taught, in class or out, and attempts to make discipline stand in for education are futile. We must not be satisfied with a tight ship, confusing a tight ship with a good one, because the tight ship will sink like any other.

Of course, school such as it is teaches one thing very well, and that is, how to do the least work and reap the most benefit — survival, mediocrity. There is nothing wrong with mediocrity in itself, but when it becomes a goal it breeds decadence. Students learn early that conformity brings success; they learn what is required for success; they learn also how little is needed to achieve success. The encouragement, the knowledge of something more, something beyond, is absent. The natural creativity and sense of experimentation are thwarted when students learn that the reward for the required is quite satisfying, too satisfying to encourage further interest. This process turns out factory-molded rather than hand-crafted graduates, products of an assembly line rather than of an artisian's skilled hands.

For too long, the school systems of this country have taken a back seat to society, been used as an indiscriminate tool, called on to manufacture whatever happened to be the need of society. It is time that the schools become the most flexible institution and cease to be the most rigid. It is time that the schools begin to adapt to the students needs and cease to make students conform to the school's wishes.

My words are not meant as a condemnation of Medford High or of the Medford School System in general. Medford High is, after all, as good as many and better than most. But if these things are not said now, then when? Neither do I mean to dwell on bad points, but rather to cause us to commit ourselves to the future, and to make improvements on the established foundation, for there are serious faults in the system. We must all assume the burden of responsibility, if not for the past, then certainly for the future. We cannot, with clear conscience, ignore the ills of the system from which we are today graduating, and must work diligently to make certain that those who follow us will reap the benefits of the education which we will together build.

IVY ORATION

Class Day is a day of traditions. One of the traditions that has been passed down through the years, is the planting of Ivy.

I am sure you are all wondering how this tradition started. It started over a hundred years ago when Mr. M. Bezzler, the class treasurer, had no money in the treasury to buy the school a parting gift. The class secretary suggested an inexpensive plant. The class heartily agreed and proceeded to the Medford Woods where they found a plant known as Hedera Helix, or sometimes called Ivy.

The plant was put on the headmaster's desk on the third floor. Within a year, it began to grow out the window and down the walls of the high school. In doing so, it enhanced the beauty of the building and increased the value of the property.

And so, the following clause was added to the "Handbook for Medford High Graduates."

> "Each class that shall henceforth graduate from the Medford Senior High School must leave in its trail to success a sprig of Ivy.

This one paragraph started a long-lasting tradition.

Through years of experience it has been found that if the Ivy grows tall, strong, and steadily upward so will the class that planted it. It has not yet been established what will prevail for those classes whose Ivy was stolen shortly after the planting.

The Ivy is a symbol of our innocence as we entered this school three years ago unaware of the hectic years to follow. The Ivy will start its journey here as we did in our Sophomore year. Because we spent our Junior and Senior years in new surroundings, our Ivy will be transplanted and continue its life amid a new environment at the New Medford High School.

As this Ivy climbs the rough and rigid brick on its journey upward, so will the Class of '72 start its journey up the rough and rigid ladder of success.

Let's all hope that our Ivy reaches its goal in life and grows to the top of Medford High School as all of us reach upward to our goals in life . . . the goals of Peace, Freedom, and Happiness.

Susan H. Kepnes

CLASS POEM
"BEGINNINGS"

Born
The child leaves the warm, pulsating fold
To gather strength, he builds, learning
Reaching, he begins, ascending.
Then, having given of his seed, creating energy, nurturing life
Comes the start of the wonderous fall, the ever-ending,
And death.

This is all an illusion, you say,
The cosmic joke, the eternal cycle.
All ends are really beginnings, you say,
We have begun
only to end again
what we have begun.

And change is only life and death, youth and age, birth and rebirth.
We have changed
only to change back
again.

And the hope? It lies in the rebirth
Beeause each rebirth is a start
if only to become a finish.

We must begin
again.

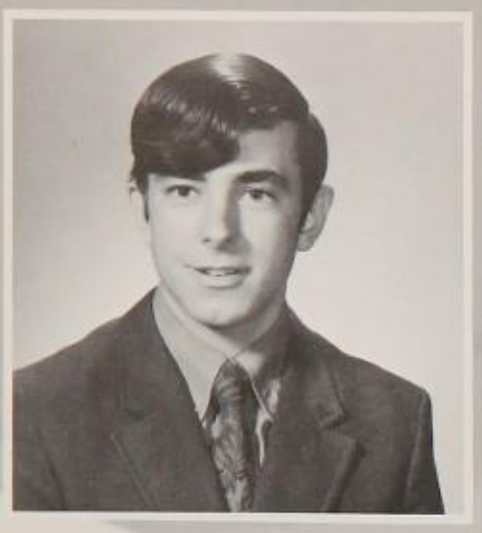
VALEDICTORIAN



David McGillivary

As we terminate our high school education, we complete the primary and most important facet of our lives. It is now our turn to explore this immeasurable world of ours, and most essential, to alter it where necessary. Now that we are endowed with the educational background and ability to contribute to the workings of society, it is our responsibility to reciprocate the treasures that society has given to us. With war, pollution, poverty, and population being our principle perplexities, it is our responsibility to fight these evils to the best of our ability and to demonstrate supreme endurance. The greatest failure in life is not to have tried and failed, but to have never tried at all. If we adhere by this rule, I am convinced that many of the problems facing us today can be rectified.

This being our graduation day, I would like to congratulate you, my fellow classmates, for accomplishing a feat you'll long remember. Until now, twelve years of schooling have been our sphere of interests and we all have successfully passed through this stage. All of us have gained a background of general knowledge which is needed for our society to function properly. The information we have assimilated by way of course participation has given us the ability to perceive logically and creatively. Since our minds are a never-ending seeker of true and the unknown, we will constantly strive for innovations spurred on by our exposure to the learning experience.

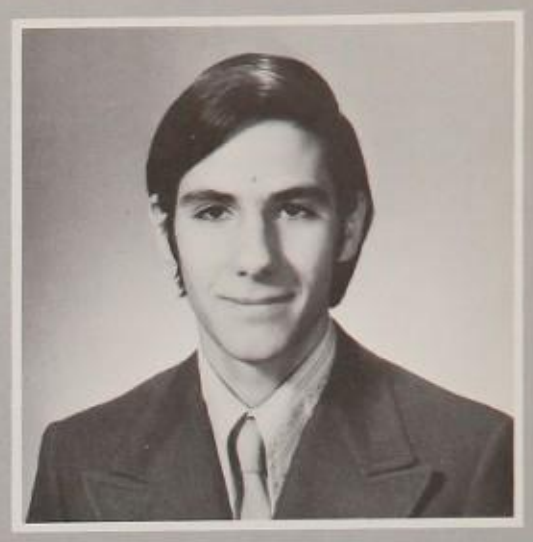
Today, irrelevant is an adjective that has been greatly attached to many areas of the educational curriculum. However, contact with the diverse and innumerable aspects of our culture can only result in a positive consequence; whether these can be seen directly, in our active experience, or indirectly, as our minds accrue knowledge allowing us to form intelligent judgments in relation to ourselves, our society, and the world surrounding us.

"Give credit where credit is due" may be a misused cliché, but does express, rather precisely, a debt owed by students to their parents. Each and every graduating student present at these exercises should be eternally grateful to you, our parents, for your support through our most influential years. We must realize how difficult it is for you to listen to the many problems we bring home each day and also to cope simultaneously with your own problems. To you, our parents, from the entire class, I wish to express our deepest gratitude.

It is often the case at graduation, one group of people is ignored — the educators, who have fulfilled their obligations to their profession as well as to society by directing us to our presence here today. They have been instrumental in transmitting to us whatever knowledge we desired and diligently tried to retain. Thus, the role of a teacher is a tedious one; he must not only be a possessor of vast knowledge, but must be able to communicate in a form understandable by the inexperienced newcomer. This goal is one that many teachers at Medford High School can rightly claim as theirs.

The previous exaltation of education has one serious shortcoming — frustration. As we learn more, we are struck by the realization of how little we really know. However, this frustration is the catalyst that spurs us deeper into the learning process, enriching our lives with the experience by which we may periodically revalue our position in the world by the standards of intellect and rationality. Thus my final words to you are words of encouragement. Learning will evolve regardless of specific intentions. Since it is there, reach greedily into it whether through books or through manual and physical work. Some will seek higher forms of education, others won't — both can capitalize on the learning experience. It is there — reach for it, and it's yours!

SALUTATORIAN
THE SIGNIFICANCE OF GOALS



Arthur Carpenito

Throughout our lives, especially our high school years, we have, or at least should have, set a goal in everything that we attempted to achieve. By doing this, we were working with a definite purpose in mind. Not only did a goal guide us, but in the long run, with each successive goal, we acquired new ambitions and the determination to continue to strive for even higher and better objectives. By following this policy, our country as well as many others in this vast world of ours, has obtained its high position in the civilization of mankind.

We, fellow classmates, have reached the first important mile stone in our lives in much the same way that our world has prospered; we have set increasingly higher goals for ourselves and have then proceeded to reach them. Tonight is a great moment for us. I would sincerely like to congratulate each one of you, not only because you will be handed a diploma, but, even more, you have won an accomplishment. You should feel very proud of yourselves, for it was largely by your own efforts, struggles, and determination that you have earned the right to be where you are now. Again, congratulations!

Not to discredit you in anyway, fellow students, I would feel remiss, however, if I did not share the credit with our teachers, guidance councilors, the administrators, and, of course, our parents, for it was also through the efforts of all these people, at some time or another, that we have been able to reach the pinnacle of our high school years here tonight. We owe them credit, just as we owe ourselves credit.

At this point in our life, we must now look ahead, far into the future, and determine the line that we should follow. Each of us will try to become expert in his particular field. We shall all go about this in one way — that way being, to set more and far-reaching goals. Some of us will go on to college before pursuing a career, while others will go right to work, but, whatever our choice, success will depend on our continuous struggle to reach the top.

If we should fail to succeed in a particular goal along the way, we should not feel defeated because, like the whole human race, we have weaknesses, too. Therefore, we are all expected to fall off a bit at times and possibly lose a battle every now and then. When this happens and we can't seem to win at all, we are sometimes easily led to believe that we will never regain our confidence and overcome our frustrations to follow along our previous road to success.

There is, however, a reasonable solution to the problem I have just presented. First of all, don't ever feel totally defeated because you never really are. Next, slow down in your work and, if you must, come to a temporary stop, since too much continuous labor can and does run us down at times. Then, go on and look to achieve another goal that might be entirely different from the one which would presently be puzzling you. In so doing, you will soon most likely discover that you are still capable of finding victory in a goal. Having reached this point, then will you have regained your strength and determination to tackle your previous goal and reveal not only to yourself, but to your friends as well as the rest of us in this great world of ours, that you have succeeded in life because you have succeeded in your goal.

Summary

In winning 7 of 14, the Mustangs enjoyed a degree of success and yet were disappointed because of the potential they had shown in the previous season. Highlights were: Capt. Don DiMare's grandslam in the 11 to 7 win over Everett; two 20 run performances over Malden, 20 to 5, and Chelsea, 24 to 5; the promise and poise shown by the underclassmen. Congratulations to Coach Knox and the team for a good effort.

Summary

The Mustang Lacrossemen, despite a winless record, did show improvement over the past few seasons. The team showed growth and were a formidable opponent in all their contests. Gone were the 11-0, 16-2, and 14-1 scores; the Mustangs lost six games by two goals or less. Commendations to Coaches Pelosi and McKeon and senior leaders Marano, Brogna, and LaBombard — we'll get there yet!

Summary

After a very promising start of three straight wins, the M.H.S. trackmen faded badly over the second half of its season to finish with a record of three wins and four losses. Losses to Somerville, Quincy, Chelsea, and Malden dimmed the aspirations which had built following wins over Everett, Revere, and North Quincy. The Mustangs' most consistent performer was Mike Taylor, who scored in his 880 specialty all season. Other bright lights for the trackmen were Mike Haywood in the 220, Co-Capt. Dave McGillvray, Chris Daley in the 120 high hurdles, versatile Greg White, and dashman Jim Coleman. Coincidental with the tragic death of Co-Capt. Anthony Cirella was the apparent lack of spirit of the Mustangs following his untimely demise. The 1972 outdoor track season — a season quickly forgotten and a season always to be remembered.

Summary

Although not a member of any formal league as yet, tennis was launched as a girls' varsity sport at M.H.S. this spring. Under the tutelage of Miss Phyllis Stewart and the leadership of Captain Mary Whelan, the team accounted for its first victory by downing Malden 5 to 0. This win followed defeats at the hands of Lexington and Stoneham. The bulk of Medford's scoring has been done by the Whelan sisters, Kathy and Mary. Congratulations to the girls and their coach and on to Wimbledon!
